Fire Drama—Two-alarm fire near Broadway and Albany street, South End, gives spectators a thrill as firemen mount ladders to battle stubborn blaze in four-story business block. Some 3000 hens in an adjacent building were periled by the fumes, but all were rescued. Damage was estimated at $5000. (Story on Page 6.)

Graves Delay Plea Expected

Strong intimation was given today that a delay may be sought in the trial of Frederick H. Graves, scheduled to face court September 15 on charges of perjury in connection with his testimony in the Curley-Santosuosso case.

It was Graves who testified at the trial of the city's $50,000 suit against Curley and Dr. Joseph Santosuosso that he bargained with Curley in the Mayflower Hotel in Washington for a payment of $40,000 in connection with the city's settlement of a water damage suit.

Curley was mayor of Boston at that time.

Indications that Graves' attorney, Lafayette R. Chamberlin, may seek a delay were seen in a letter by Chamberlin recently to Assistant District Attorney Frederick T. Doyle, in charge of the prosecution.

This letter reveals that Ralph Graves, cousin of the accused man, "can't be located"—this although Ralph Graves, when he testified as a surprise witness at the Curley-Santosuosso trial, testified he is a Treasury Department employe in Washington.

Chamberlain asked Doyle if he would agree to the admission of a transcript of Ralph Graves' testimony in the present case, in the event Ralph Graves still can't be located.

Doyle revealed that he has refused to agree to this.

A plea that a vital witness was missing, however, observers pointed out, might bolster up a request to have the trial delayed.

Chamberlain was asked whether Graves was considering any change of plea. He has pleaded not guilty to two indictments against him.

"The only thing I can say to that," Chamberlain replied, "is that we are going to fight."

ADDED IMPORTANCE

All of these conflicting angles of the case today continued to lend added importance to the expected testimony of Mrs. Lillian H. Thomas, wealthy St. Louis woman now under subpoena as a state's witness.

Mrs. Thomas, it is known, knew Graves in St. Louis, where he was a guest of her husband and herself in their home. In an interview in New York she said Graves told her he "was being paid" for testifying in the Curley-Santosuosso case.

WHAT A BURGLAR!

SOUTH GATE, Cal., Sept. 7 (INS) — Police today were looking for a considerate burglar who robbed Mrs. Arthur Davlin, housewife, of $120 and several days later returned $100 by letter.

A Grate Dilemma

But Quincy Cops Win Out

Today's cold snap found the heater in Quincy police headquarters minus its grates when Patrolman John Erwin set about starting a fire today.

Erwin sleuthed high and low throughout the building without success.

It looked as though he'd have to buy a new set of grates when help was volunteered from an unexpected quarter.

"If them things you're looking for," said a civilian worker at headquarters, "look like a toaster, I sold them for junk two weeks ago for a dollar to a fellow with a white horse."

All the Quincy junk yards were checked. Motorcycle Patrolman James Mackay was the hero. He found the grates at Quincy Point.

They were taken back to headquarters and occupants of the building later reported the heat was on full blast.

The junkman hopes to get his dollar back—soon.

Reshuffling Of Auto Zones Now Planned

By HENRY L. DAILY

Establishment in Massachusetts of five new rating territories for compulsory auto insurance was in prospect today, with Boston, Revere and Brookline among numerous communities due for re-classification.

This the Boston Evening American learned from the same reliable and unimpeachable source which furnished yesterday's exclusive story revealing contemplated auto insurance rate increases ranging from four to ten per cent and totalling at least $850,000.

ASK REVERE DIVORCE

As further exclusive news, the Boston Evening American is able to inform the public today that insurance companies have asked Insurance Commissioner Charles F. J. Harrington for a re-districting of rating territories in order that certain towns and cities may be singled out for rate increases.

The companies want Chelsea to remain, as it is now, alone as top rate territory of the state.

They want Revere separated from Boton and put also in a one-city class, with a rate second only to that of Chelsea.

Figures submitted by the insurance companies indicate that the Boston rate may remain approximately at its present level, third highest in the Commonwealth.

Brookline gets a break, however, according to the proposed 1939 schedule.

The companies want that town put in a territorial classification with Waltham and Watertown with a consequent scaling down of its rate.

HUGE OPERATING COSTS

Present auto insurance rating territories in the state total 15.

If Commissioner Harrington follows the recommendations of the insurance companies, he will establish five more territories, bringing the total to 20.

His tentative schedule of territories and rates must, by law, be promulgated not later than September 15.

State House observers today believed it unlikely the promulgation would be made in time to permit holding the subsequent hearings before the state primary elections, September 21.

In their report to Commissioner Harrington, the insurance companies set their operating costs at about $8,000,000 on the basis of 1937 figures.

They asked that 1939 rates be sufficiently increased so that operating costs of $8,750,000 for the coming year might be defrayed without loss of profit.

Driscoll Gets City Realty Post

Daniel Driscoll of Harvard street, Dorchester, for the past 10 years associated with the real estate department of a Boston newspaper, today was appointed by Mayor Tobin to be custodian of the city's foreclosed tax title real estate.

His salary, it was announced, will be $4000 a year. He will have associated with him, as unpaid assistants and advisers, Philip E. Bennett of the National Shawmut Bank and William F. Kessler of the First National Bank, whose services, it is stated, are being donated by the banks one day a week.

As custodian, Driscoll will have direct charge of the 1600 parcels of real estate, mostly vacant, now held by the city on foreclosures for non-payment of taxes. It will be his task to find a market, if possible, for these properties.

He also will have supervision of the more than 16,000 other parcels of property upon which the city has tax liens.

William Powell To Go Under Knife

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 7 (INS)—William Powell, screen star, today entered Cedars of Lebanon Hospital for an abdominal operation tomorrow or Friday.

According to Dr. Clarence Moore, the operation will be "of a very serious nature."

Powell underwent an abdominal operation about a year ago, and it was learned the second operation was necessary to complete the corrective process.

DOCTOR IS HONORED

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 7 (INS)—"For distinguished services to chemistry," Dr. Marston Taylor Bogart, professor of organic chemistry at Columbia University, today was awarded the Priestly medal, highest honor of the American Chemical Society.

MRS. VIRGINIA JONES HASKELL, 15
Waits at Mailbox for Letter From Louis

Won't Postman Ring Just Once?

"If he'd only write a penny post-card," was the lament of Lynn's 15-year-old bride, Virginia Jones Haskell, whose bridegroom, Louis Haskell, 16, has left for parts unknown.

Virginia and Louis eloped last August 1 to Salem, N. H., returned two weeks later, only to be separated by parents.

Now they not only live on different streets but in different states. Louis is said to have left the state and his family have moved from their Massachusetts avenue, Lynn home.

THEY HAD A TIFF

"Louis and I had somewhat of a tiff, the last time we held a conversation together," the bride confided.

"You see it was I who wanted to come home from our honeymoon and Louis obeyed my wishes. So he reminded me of this when we last spoke.

HASN'T SIGNED YET

"He said, 'You had your way last time and I want mine for a change.' He wanted to sign an annulment petition and take his father's word for it he would allow us to marry later.

"But he hasn't signed yet. I don't really think he will, if I don't want him to.

"I am a little angry with him at the moment," Virginia admitted, regarding her husband. "I think he might write.

"Maybe he can't. I look in the mail-box every day."

Virginia was cooking a pudding when the reporter called.

"It's a bread and butter pudding. Louis always loved my bread and butter puddings," she sighed.

HUNT FREED MAN FIEND SLAYING CLUE

By JAMES J. McENANEY
Boston Evening American Staff Correspondent

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Sept. 7 — A man with a scratched face who slipped through the hands of Exeter police was sought today as investigation of the brutal slaying of eight-year-old Barbara Elizabeth Driscoll suddenly took a new turn.

The man now wanted for questioning was picked up in Exeter only a few hours after the little Driscoll girl's battered body was found under a railroad shed here.

His face torn as if by finger nails and his clothes blood-stained, the man's wild and dishevelled appearance attracted attention of Exeter officers.

They took him to headquarters for interrogation, although at that time they did not know of the Barbara Driscoll murder.

A convincing story, accounting for his injuries, was told by the man, they said.

Warned to be on his way, he was released.

Not until today did a description of the man and an account of his detention in Exeter come to ears of officials in charge of the slaying probe here.

ELEANOR MORSE · ROSE LA FAY
Seized as "Party Girls" in Brookline Raid

Scan 'Party List', 4 Girls Held

Four women, in whose apartments police said they found long lists of addresses of prominent Greater Boston men, were held in $1000 each today in Brookline court following two raids in Naples road.

Brookline officers said they seized the lists when they arrested the girls and two men last night while they allegedly were answering telephone calls.

Those held for a hearing on Sept. 10 were:

Ruth Finer, 32, of Naples road, Brookline, held in $1000 charged with maintaining a disorderly house; Helen Harman, 38, of Naples road, Brookline; Eleanor Morse, 27, of Bridge street, East Bridgewater, and Rose La Fay, of Tremont street, South End, each held in $1000 bail on morals charges.

The two men, held in $300 bail each for a hearing on the same date were named as Caleb J. Buffum, of Laurel street, Somerville, and Lionel Nichols, of Rockland street, Wakefield.

Acting Police Chief Joseph P. Mahoney led the raids and caught one of the men as he attempted to escape down a fire escape. All the persons were scantily clothed, police said, when officers burst in.

The raids ended a four-months' watch of the apartments, located in separate blocks on Naples street.

'Graves' Yield 30 Stolen Cars

Remains of more than 30 stolen automobiles have been found in auto "grave yards" in Lynn and Peabody, Lynn police said today, with the arraignment of two men in Lynn district court. The pair were held for further hearing on September 13.

The two are Charles Duffy, 24, and Joseph Duffy, 22, cousins, both of Neponset street, Revere. Police charge they are members of the gang that has been stealing and stripping cars along the North Shore.

Arraigned yesterday, held in $5000 bonds and his case continued to September 15, likewise, was Victor Sousa, 50, Broad street, Lynn, owner of an auto parts store. He is charged with receiving stolen property in connection with the gang's operations.

Career AND Marriage On Sally Clark's Slate

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (INS)—Career—or marriage?

"Both for me, thank you," proclaimed Sally Clark, sister-in-law of John Roosevelt, youngest son of the President.

And that's her way of solving the problem over which psychologists, psychiatrists, heart experts and just plain experts have worried and have written tomes about.

Sally revealed this off-handedly today. Revealed it in a hurry, because she's a very busy girl.

"I only have a minute," she rattled. "What . . . Oh, that! Well, this is what I'm going to do."

BIG CHURCH WEDDING

She's going to marry George Xavier McLanahan of New York and Watch Hill, R. I.

"I'll have a big church wedding like my sister. Yes, but, of course it won't stop my swing-singing. As you know, I'm opening a four weeks' engagement at the Persian room of the Plaza.

"I've got to get my trousseau together. I've got to get ready for the Plaza. I've just signed a five-year radio contract. So—"

Ha! Then she's rich, as well as being John Roosevelt's sister-in-law?

She laughed.

"What with buying gowns for my first professional appearance at the Ritz-Carlton in Boston, I'm just about broke."

FIANCE LIKES SINGING

"Please—what does your fiance think of a career-and-marriage together?" the reporter shouted at her departing figure.

Over her shoulder came the answer:

"He loves my singing—why, I can't imagine. He'll be at the opening. He likes the idea . . . bye."

Another 'Woman I Love'

London Headache

LONDON, Eng., Sept. 7—The romance of Miss Joyce Blencowe, 20-year-old tailor's daughter for love of whom Prince Mahmud of Trengganu has renounced his royal title, continued to give the British ministries here a headache today.

For all they can do, however, Mahmud continues as adamant in his refusals to forsake his announced bride-to-be as did a certain other gentleman of British royalty not long since.

"Joyce is the woman I love," says Mahmud.

The powers that be here confessed, tacitly, that they are getting a little "fed-up" on that phrase.

Sir Sulaiman Badarulaiam Shah, Mahmud's brother, sultan of Trengganu, has ordered Mahmud home from Oxford University—without Joyce. Mahmud, who, like Joyce, is 20, says he has "no intention of going home without her."

JOYCE BLENCOWE
Royal Hush-Hush

The sultan threatened to cut off Mahmud's allowance. Whether he actually has done so is unknown, but Mahmud, seemingly, is managing somehow to make ends meet. He says he'll even go to work as a chauffeur or waiter if necessary.

'Friend' Sought in Killing of Girl

ly hastened to Exeter, 11 miles away, and brought back to Portsmouth, Exeter Police Chief Thomas Chrysler.

A conference, at which Chrysler was the central figure, was hastily called here, behind closed doors.

Early reports were that Chrysler's description of the man with the scratched face tallied closely with that of a brown-haired man about 28 or 30 years old seen in the vicinity of the murder scene the day before Barbara Driscoll was beaten to death.

In her clenched hand, when she was found, were several strands of brown hair. Several of her playmates told of being accosted or molested by a man with hair of that color.

An important issue to be determined at today's conference between investigators and Police Chief Chrysler of Exeter was the question of whether the man with the scratched face might or might not be a Portsmouth resident.

If he were a stranger and a vagrant, as Exeter police supposed at the time they released him, he could not have been known to Barbara Driscoll.

Yet Attorney General Thomas P. Cheney and his subordinates here were beginning to be inclined today toward the theory that little Barbara was acquainted with her assailant and went with him trustingly to the lonely spot where she was slain.

Along that trail of reasoning, authorities today delved into the past of habitues of the neighborhood where the little parochial schoolgirl lived.

Temporarily, they rested their questioning of a 34-year-old ex-convict, unable to shake his story of his movements on the day and night the child was killed. It was indicated that unless a pathological report, due today from Dr. Timothy Leary of Boston, links the suspect with the crime, he will be questioned no further.

"Barbara always was warned never even to talk to strangers," her father, James J. Driscoll, said today.

"She was a smart little girl and I am certain she did not go away with anyone she did not know without making an outcry."

One person, who knew Barbara well and saw her almost daily, has been watched by police for two days, it was learned.

Others today came under the eyes of investigators as Governor Francis P. Murphy gave orders to speed the probe. He called for a complete report on the case, now in its third day.

MERCHANDISE DELIVERED IN SEARS TRADING AREA

Stryker Grills Schultz Aide

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 7—Defense Attorney Lloyd P. Stryker today resumed cross-examination of "Big Harry" Schoenhaus, who testified that the Dutch Schultz mob of policy racketeers paid Tammany Leader James J. Hines thousands of dollars over a period of years to act as their "fixer."

Schoenhaus, the Schultz gang's "payoff man" and bookkeeper, said he personally paid Hines sums of $500 on seven or eight occasions. He estimated the mob gave Hines $30,000 for the purpose of electing William C. Dodge district attorney in 1933. He declared Hines was paid $500 to $1000 a week during most of the four-year period.

TELLS OF MEETING

Schoenhaus told of a meeting of Schultz mobsters—in May or June, 1932—when, he stated, "the Dutchman" asked his lieutenants if they were "satisfied with the way things were going" now that the number of "pinches" had been cut down.

Stryker pounded away at the witness regarding whether Hines' name was mentioned at the alleged Schultz gang conference.

The defense then introduced a map to prove its contention that there is no northwest corner of Sixth avenue and Ninth street. It was at this corner that Schoenhaus testified he paid Hines $500 on two occasions. Schoenhaus was positive there was a "northwest corner" at that point.

SILENCES COUNSEL

Arguments on this issue became so heated that Judge Ferdinand Pecora exclaimed:

"Will counsel for both sides keep quiet!"

The map was shown to the jury.

Stryker concluded cross-examination of Shoenhaus and Dewey took the witness over on redirect.

False Alarms Ire Winthrop

For the second time in a month, Winthrop was plagued by an epidemic of false fire alarms early today.

Weary fire fighters were kept tumbling out of their cots by false alarms from widely separated points all over town—McGee's corner, the Highlands, Point Shirley.

Chief of Police William Pumphret put every available police cruiser on the streets, with orders to watch fire alarm boxes. This is the second time within 30 days that the epidemic of false alarms has occurred.

City of Diamonds Fetes Dutch Queen

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, Sept. 7 (AP)—This "City of Diamonds" today put its choice wares before Queen Wilhelmina in a glittering jubilee exhibition in connection with the 40th anniversary of her reign, which is being celebrated this week.

The queen drove to the Colonial Museum and saw the display of gems, among them the $750,000 Jonker diamond.

Spanish Troops Routed by Fires

HENDAYE, France, Sept. 7 (AP)—Fires in pine and olive groves on slopes of De Los Caballos range were reported today driving government troops from strong positions on the Ebro river front.

Dispatches from the fighting zone said flames and dense smoke started by artillery bombardment, were doing what insurgent attacks had failed to accomplish.

School Secretary Held as Embezzler

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (INS)—Charged with a series of embezzlements totaling $35,000, Miss Helen Volante, 28, was arrested here today on a warrant signed by a Greenwich, Ct., judge.

Miss Volante was identified as the former financial secretary of the Greenwich County Day school.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 7 (AP)—Seventeen multi-motored long-range bombers of the Navy's patrol Squadron 1 were winging far over the Pacific early today on what has become a prosaic 2570-mile airway between San Diego and Honolulu.

Under command of Lieut.-Com. A. P. Storrs, 3rd, the bombers with 119 men aboard left here in two V-shaped formations for "routine transfer" to Hawaiian duty. Early today their position was reported as 1640 miles west, and "all's well."

Mother's vacation began today as little Johnny and Mary Ann went back to school.

Unaccustomed peace and quiet descended suddenly upon thousands of homes in 30 nearby cities and towns. From 9 a. m. to 3 p. m., approximately—from now until Thanksgiving—just think of it!—Mother will have all her time to herself!

Boston mothers will join others "on vacation" tomorrow when Boston schools also reopen.

Schools in Cambridge, Brookline, Newton, Revere, Lynn and Nahant reopen Monday.

Every child reporting for classes in Boston will undergo a physical examination to prevent the spread of communicable diseases.

A staff of 68 doctors and 65 nurses will be on hand to examine eyes, throats and chests.

Dr. James A. Keenan, director of school hygiene, reported there has not been a single case of infantile paralysis in some time. He suggested parents procure vaccination cards for their children from the family physician.

No new school buildings will be opened this year but six new rooms have been finished on the second floor of the Joyce Kilmer School, West Roxbury, and three rooms have been created of vacant space in the Patrick Gavin School, South Boston.

City Joys a Smoky Wheeze To 3000 Hens Near Fire

Definitely disgusted with city life today were 3000 hens, survivors of a smoky, two-alarm fire which swept up through a four-story brick business block in Way street, South End, near the corner of Broadway and Albany street.

The hens, caged in a wholesale poultry market adjacent to the burning structure, almost suffocated, but finally escaped to keep a future rendezvous with the butcher.

Human occupants of nearby houses were driven from their homes. Damage was estimated at $5000.

Traffic was tied up as throngs watched firemen scale ladders to get at the blaze in upper stories of the building.

Find Everett Woman Dead In Her Home

Mrs. Mildred Parkhurst, 40, wife of Archie Parkhurst, proprietor of a dine and dance resort on the Newburyport turnpike, was found dead in the kitchen of their Chatham road, Everett, home by her husband early today.

Police said four gas jets in the range were open and that the woman had left a note, saying:

"Goodbye Archie. I'm so tired of living.

"Please see that I have a quiet funeral. Mildred."

The note was found pinned to a necktie which was suspended from a chandelier in the parlor.

GOP Bloc Again Fights Jakmauh

Five Republican members of the Executive Council in secret caucus today agreed to present a united front against the confirmation of Dr. Paul J. Jakmauh of Milton as State Commissioner of Health.

A spokesman for the bloc, who refused to be quoted, intimated there would be no surrender to Governor Hurley as the quintet were unanimous in their stand.

Dr. Jakmauh was named by the governor last spring to succeed Dr. Henry D. Chadwick, whose resignation is now on the gubernatorial desk.

At that time the council rejected him by a vote of 6 to 3.

The Jakmaugh name was slated to go before the council again today but his confirmation seems unlikely as there are only Governor Hurley, Lt. Gov. Kelly, and Councillors Coakley and O'Connor recorded in his favor.

His five Republican foes are Councillors Bayard Tuckerman, Frank Brooks, Joseph Grossman, Edgar S. Lindsay, and Eugene F. Burnett.

France Boosts Border Troops

PARIS, Sept. 7 (AP)—A new military order issued by the war ministry today sent trained infantry reserve troops into the Maginot line at the frontier opposite Germany for a 21-day period.

The order notified reservists, their exact number not determined, to report immediately for duty where they finished their regular two-year military service only three weeks ago.

The government also announced its "requisition" of the port of Marseilles, placing the most important Mediterranean inlet for French African troops and supplies under military control.

The order was said to concern only infantry fortress troops of the second class—the lowest military class.

The Maginot defenses are said to have normal garrison with 100,000 men but officers in the zone say that 350,000 would be a conservative estimate of the present strength. This figure did not take account of the new order.

Tanks, Troops Also on Move In Holland These Days

WAR TREMORS rumble in Holland too as tank corps and motorized troops wheel through Amsterdam, evidently prepared to take a stand if war settles over Europe.

Czechs Sad, Offer More

PRAGUE, Sept. 7 (AP)—The text of the new concessions by which the Czechoslovak government hopes to end its danger-laden dispute with the autonomy-demanding Sudeten Germans was formally handed to a leader of the Sudeten party today by Premier Hodza.

This ceremony took place in an uncertain and pessimistic atmosphere.

In the absence of the Sudeten leader, Konrad Henlein, who left last night to attend Germany's annual Nazi party rally at Nurnberg, Hodza made the presentation to Ernst Kundt, Henlein's lieutenant.

This marked the fourth set of "suggestions" made by the Praha government in recent weeks in the hope of composing the quarrel which—because Adolf Hitler has proclaimed himself protector of the Sudetens—is troubling all Europe.

The first three were directly or indirectly rejected by the Germanic minority.

It was officially admitted that the "fourth plan" offered virtually complete self-government to three German districts; that national officials would be chosen from various nationalities in proportion to population; that local police would be locally commanded, and that languages of minorities would be placed on a basis of equality with those of Czechs and Slovaks.

Another concession was said to be economic aid totalling about $25,000,000 to be expended in depressed German districts.

Kundt and other party leaders began official study of the plan. The impression prevailed at Sudeten headquarters that they would find much fault with it if they did not reject it altogether.

To the Sudeten Germans the most distasteful feature of Prague's foreign policy has been the alliance with Soviet Russia.

Air Liner Shot Down by Japs

SHANGHAI, Sept. 7 (AP)—Japanese aviators shot down a passenger plane of the German-Chinese operated Eurasia line 30 miles southwest of Hankow yesterday—the second such incident in two days.

A Japanese army communique today lacked details about the fate of the passengers or the plane. It said the attackers "considered the craft to be a hostile plane operating in the zone of hostilities."

A Eurasia plane was machine-gunned Monday at Liuchow, Kwangsi province, by three Japanese pursuit planes. None of its nine occupants was hurt.

BLAST WRECKS WINDOWS

PATERSON, N. J. Sept. 7 (INS)—Scores of windows were broken when a series of underground gas explosions here today jarred the ground for blocks and threw 60 man-hole covers into the air.

Hitler's Speech Stabs France

NURNBERG, Germany, Sept. 7 (AP)—Adolf Hitler told Germany's conscript labor army today that its spades, "being wielded in the east, north and south, but especially in the west"—on France's borders—were playing a vital part in defense of the Reich.

"You are fighting for the defense of the Reich and its independence" he told 40,000 labor conscripts as he stood in a pouring rain.

His speech was the climax of the annual labor rally at Zeppelin field, main event of the third day of the annual Nazi Party Congress.

Most of his audience interpreted his reference to the work of labor battalions "especially in the west" as a public admission that they have been perfecting Germany's fortifications facing France.

100,000 HAIL HITLER

"Your spade creates new soil besides securing the old," the Reichsfuehrer declared. "Your spade is being wielded for securing and maintaining the Reich."

A hundred thousand spectators crowded the grandstand and bleachers to witness the spectacle.

From one bleacher hundreds of voices rang out: "We Sudeten Germans greet the Fuehrer of the Germans"—voices from the Germanic minority in Czechoslovakia over which Hitler has declared himself protector.

Meanwhile foreign diplomats attending the congress looked forward to the Reichsfuehrer's reception for them later today, many believing it might be the occasion for an important meeting between Hitler and the British ambassador, Sir Nevile Henderson.

AWAIT HITLER'S MOVE

(London dispatches quoted reliable observers that war or peace might depend on whether the British envoy has an opportunity at Hitler's reception for diplomats to speak to the German Chancellor.)

The general feeling in government circles was that Hitler was going to wait the rest of this week for the Czechoslovak government to present a peace plan acceptable to the Sudeten Germans.

ETHIOPIA FOR JEWS

LONDON, Sept. 7 (INS)—Plans for opening Ethiopia to Jews expelled from Italy under Premier Mussolini's new anti-Semitic campaign have been drawn up by the Italian colonial ministry, the News Chronicle said today in a dispatch from Rome.

WPA Workers Attract Kelley

By ALFRED D. WHELTON

Lientenant-Governor Francis E. Kelly's mysterious trip to Washington remained a mystery today, and his first Greater Boston speech since Thursday caused no end of political conjecture.

In his campaign for promotion to the governor's chair, Kelly directed his speeches before large gatherings at Medford, Malden and Somerville, chiefly to the WPA worker.

In political circles, the subject of the speeches led some to suspect the Washington visit might have had something to do with the text.

BLASTS OPPONENTS

The speech was largely a blast at former Governor James M. Curley and the present chief executive, Governor Charles F. Hurley, for the alleged indifference of both to the fate of the WPA worker when orders to discharge 20,000 in Massachusetts came from Washington more than a year ago.

Kelly charged Curley, to whom he referred as "Work and Wages" Curley, has always been a "fair weather" friend who remained silent when the order f discharge of workers came through.

PITS LOAN INTEREST

He charged Governor Hurley blocked a protest to WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins after Kelly had proposed it at a meeting of the Governor's Council.

The lieutenant-governor also scored rates of interest charged by loansharks and said that Curley made no attempt during his term as governor, in 1934-5, to remedy the condition, because he was friendly with one of that "ilk."

At rallies in Boston, Quincy and Brockton, former Governor Curley advocated a flat monthly payment of $40 to beneficiaries of old age assistance instead of the present $30 and a reduction in the qualifying age from 65 to 60.

He said it would eventually lead to "young age assistance" by making jobs for those who are between the age of school and industry.

Curley said one of his first acts as governor would be to coordinate the state's machinery for housing in an active movement of cooperation with the federal housing administration to give quick and long term employment to idle youths.

In a radio address and before a banquet in the Boston Chamber of Commerce Building, Governor Hurley defended his labor record and cited reports of the Massachusetts Federation of Labor, from which he quoted:

"Once again, Governor Charles F. Hurley has demonstrated his friendly attitude toward the legislative program of organized labor. All but one of the labor enactments placed upon his desk were signed by him without hesitation."

The governor also took a fling at Curley and Kelly, without naming either, citing the defeat of Curley two years ago at the hands of Republican U. S. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and referring to Kelly as "a young man with a vivid imagination who makes wild promises and extravagant statements in order to attract attention."

He referred to Richard M. Russell, fourth candidate for governor in the Democratic primary as "a pathetic figure whose campaign had degenerated into the schoolboy practice of calling names and whose only claim to suffrage is the fact that his father was once governor."

The women's division of the Richard M. Russell campaign will open its activities tomorrow at the Parker House with a tea and reception to the Democratic candidate for governor.

Sinclair Weeks, chairman of the Republican finance campaign, today announced an intensive drive to supply the party's war chest for November's election. "Republican victory in November with 100,000 givers and 1,000,000 voters" is the slogan. Congressman Bruce Barton of New York will be speaker at the opening of the drive in Mechanics Building September 22, with admission "100 pennies a plate."

At rallies in Amherst, Athol and Fitchburg, Leverett Saltonstall, Republican candidate for governor, attacked Governor Hurley on the ground that the present chief executive had allowed violation of the civil service rules and promised, if elected governor, to restore the merit system in place of "partisan, political favoritism."

Richard Whitcomb, rival of Saltonstall for the G. O. P. nomination, faced a heavy speaking schedule which started at a one o'clock meeting of the Women's Republican Club of Reading. Tonight he speaks at the Central Middlesex Young Republican banquet at the Old Belfry Club in Lexington; at South Junior high school in Waltham and at Clinton Town Hall.

One of the keener contests for the House in Greater Boston is being waged by Harry Traverse, of Ward 14, Mattapan. He is one of the foundere of Young Israel in Boston and a former member of the executive committee of the Mattapan Zionist Region.

Pity the Judges!

GALAXY of beauties from every state in the Union boards train for the final test at Atlantic City Beauty Pageant. With all these beauties the judges will have no easy time picking the winner.

Film Girl Leads 'Miss America'

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept 7 (AP)—A browned-haired 20-year-old Hollywood movie extra was a step ahead of 43 other American beauties today in the contest for the title of Miss America 1938 at the national beauty pageant.

Hazel-eyed Claire James, of Los Angeles — Miss California — was judged "most beautiful girl in evening gown" at contests at the Convention Hall.

Blond Marilyn Meseke of Marion, O.,—Miss Ohio—won the consolation prize as "the most perfect model."

Among others deemed in the running for the glory of being called Miss America at Saturday's concluding sessions were Miss Arizona, Miss Asbury Park, Miss Maryland, Miss Empire State, Miss Indiana, Miss Long Beach, N. Y., Miss Brooklyn, Miss Birmingham, Miss Minnesota, Miss New Jersey, Miss Indianapolis and Miss Utah.

Foley Charges $50,000 Fund

District Attorney William J. Foley today charged that one of the five candidates against his re-election has already spent $50,000 and was ready to spend more in order to wrest the office from him.

The Suffolk County prosecutor formally opened his campaign with a reception at municipal building, South Boston. Attorney John J. Chapman presided.

Foley reviewed his long record as district attorney and said he expected to continue a humane administration in which justice would be tempered with mercy.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

Needle Woman Picket Seized

A woman picket was arrested today in Kneeland street as the garment workers' strike in that area entered upon its third week.

Taken into custody was Anne Gielfi of Gladstone street, East Boston, charged with assault and battery on an unidentified person.

Her arrest was the 77th since the strike began and marked the fourth alleged outbreak of violence in the trouble zone between pickets and workers.

Sen. McCarran, New Deal Foe, Nevada Victor

RENO, Nev., Sept. 7 (AP)—Sen. Pat McCarran, who opposed President Roosevelt's Supreme Court and government reorganization proposals, appeared today to have recaptured the Democratic nomination by an overwhelming margin from two liberal New Deal backers.

With more than half the vote in yesterday's primary counted when the tally was stopped until late in the day, 149 of Nevada's 262 precincts gave McCarran 11,127 votes, Albert Bonnifield Reno attorney, 7,237, and Dr. J. G. Worden, state health board secretary, 561.

Opposing Nevada Democrats' "can't-you-do-something-for-us" appeal to voters that focused in Reno, seat of Senator McCarran, who championed the President for reelection but who frequently opposed him on New Deal measures, Bonnifield polled 1,890 votes in Clark county, Las Vegas, and Dr. Worden had a lead over Senator Pittman in Esmeralda county, 291 to 250, and Douglas county, 227 to 201.

Two More Primaries As Test of Deal

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—Two more primary contests pitting supporters of President Roosevelt's New Deal against opponents will be decided tomorrow as Democratic voters in Maryland and Delaware go to the polls.

Primary interest centers in the Maryland senatorial race between Representative David J. Lewis, Democrat, who has the support of the administration, and Senator Millard E. Tydings, who has been a frequent critic of the President's policies.

Tydings to Reply On Radio Friday

ANNAPOLIS, Sept. 7 (AP)—Senator Millard E. Tydings will answer the charges made against him by President Roosevelt in Democratic campaign speeches in Maryland in a radio broadcast Friday night, it was announced today.

Tydings, Democrat, who is being opposed for renomination in the primary election tomorrow by Representative David J. Lewis, Democrat, who has the support of the Democratic organization in Maryland, will speak over a national broadcasting network from 10 to 10:30 p. m.

'Hub' Keynotes Swing

Old-New Foxtrot a Free-Wheeler

BARE FOOT SWING grips the "jitterbugs of the nation" as this photo shows. It's called "Peeling the Peach," another interpretation of the swing craze that has swept the youth of the country literally "onto its feet."

Boston has given a new dance to the nation—"The Hub," a swing-type fox trot—it was announced at the 15th annual dancing teachers' convention at the Hotel Bradford today.

"It's a new 'swing,'" Parsons explained. "It's not meant to take the place of any existing dance. It's something new. Or maybe I should say it's something out of the old book, set to swing—an old fashioned dance in swing time."

"Ballroom dancing requires a new dance every year at least," Ruth Howard, attending the convention, said. "There have to be new dances constantly to maintain sustained interest.

"Swing? It's here to stay, I think—but it's not new. Our American Indians had it. It's all-American. And our 'jitterbugs' today, I think, typify the present-day spirit of American youth. They are all jittery, you know—jittery over their economic futures, over prospects of war."

The convention is to continue through Friday.

Another new dance introduced to the assembled dancing masters was "Peeling the Peach," a variation of what was explained as the "Big Apple." Most noticeable feature of this new swing is that it is danced if it is done properly—with bare feet.

"It's bare foot swing!" one onlooker declared.

Labor to Hear Of New Laws

By JOHN W. ENGLISH

Kenneth I. Taylor, secretary-treasurer and legislative agent of Massachusetts State Federation of Labor, is scheduled as principal speaker at today's session of the Connecticut Federation of Labor, in annual convention at Bridgeport, Conn.

His subject will be "Legislation" and Taylor will tell delegates of the progress made in Massachusetts during the past year in the interest of organized labor, attending [illegible]

Through the intervention of the State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation, a strike of 300 employees of the Bridgeport Paper Company at Adams has been settled, and the workers will return to their jobs tomorrow morning. The men were out [illegible]

Governor Charles F. Hurley, Jay Mellen, chairman of the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration, and Attorney Joseph Padway, counsel for the Labor Relations Board, will be among the speakers at the convention.

Edward J. Cummings, [illegible] San Francisco, who is representing the Boston Labor Relations Board, John J. Reardon, of Boston, He was recently elected president of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees Alliance and Bartenders League of America.

Reardon played a prominent part in the historical convention of the organization being a member of the laws committee.

He reports that among the matters disposed of at the convention was an increase in death benefits from $100 to $150, passed upon "consideration of the conditions of organization instituted two years ago, which resulted in doubling membership and changes in by-laws to improve the organization."

Joseph Stefani, of the Hotel & Pantry Cooks Union, accompanied Reardon. James H. Langdon, of Worcester, was another Massachusetts delegate who attended.

The State Board of Arbitration has taken over arbitration of the differences between Boston Fruit and Produce Dealers and members of Federal Labor Union 22555, Fruit and Vegetable Dock Workers of Boston, relative to the trucking agreement.

Employees ask that a 44-hour week be established with time and half pay for all overtime work. They also ask that no boss be given a minimum of $25.50 a week for 5 strippers $23.50 a week. Also that the number of apprentices be determined by a union committee of experienced tomato men. In addition they ask that the seniority rule prevail. The present agreement expires October 24.

Many prominent labor union officials throughout the state are planning to attend the reception to be given to Freeman M. Butts, ex-Worcester editor of The Labor News on September 18, when he will be welcomed to Worcester [illegible]

Exile's Grave Awaits Son of King Alfonso

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 7 (INS)—Harried to the very death by his family's hereditary malady, the body of the Count de Covadonga, once heir to the Spanish throne, was prepared today for an exile's grave.

MILDRED GAYDON
With Prince at Death

The 3-year-old son of the [illegible] King Alfonso of Spain died [illegible] hours after he was injured in an automobile accident while [illegible] with a pretty movie actress, [illegible] girl Mildred Gaydon, 25, who was driving.

The count was afflicted with hemophilia, sometimes referred to as the curse of the Romanoffs, but more properly designated as the Battenberg malady, that perverts coagulation of the blood.

Word of the count's death was cabled to the former King Alfonso in Rome and Queen Victoria at London. It was believed they would have the body sent to Europe for burial although no [illegible] was made.

The girl was merely detained and was released on her own recognizance after being [illegible] charged with manslaughter pending an inquest today.

AS MOTHER RACES DEATH TO GIRL

Injured Lynn Child's Dad Hunted at Sea

While Coast Guard authorities sought to find her father somewhere at sea on a trawler, nine-year-old Ruth Goodwin hovered between life and death today at Lynn Hospital.

Her father was speeding homeward from a vacation trip at Nova Scotia.

The child suffered a fractured skull when struck accidentally by a baseball bat wielded by one of [illegible] playmates [illegible] Saturday.

Ruth Goodwin

At the hospital [illegible] physicians said the girl had failed to recover consciousness.

Coast Guard authorities said the trawler Enid Le Jacie but efforts were being made to locate the boat.

Mrs. Goodwin was located at Shelbourne, N. S. and left for home at once.

Sales-Jobs Move Speeds

Sales mean jobs!

More than 5000 manufacturers and industrialists, feeding commodities to 28,000 retail stores in Greater Boston, joined with the Chamber of Commerce today to create more work and greater prosperity by increasing sales of merchandise.

E. C. Jenssen, chairman of the Sales Crusade Committee, announced 25,000 Sales Mean Jobs [illegible] had been distributed [illegible] before noon.

At the State House, Governor Hurley was officially enlisted in the drive when Jenssen pinned a [illegible] on Paul.

Several large [illegible] departments announced they would have [illegible] sales meetings to promote the movement which is based on [illegible] points:

1—Unemployment is a national problem.

2—Though undoubtedly impaired, the ability to buy still exists among our citizens. Though millions are unemployed, many other millions are at work to help.

3—A definite step toward the reemployment of the unemployed is increased by sale of commodities.

4—The American salesman faces a remarkable opportunity to help in solving unemployment. It is his task to strengthen the movement to make people ABLE TO BUY MORE, which, in turn, will increase business tempo.

5—Re-employment will result because, if people buy, manufacturers and industrialists must increase production.

[illegible] of the Chamber of Commerce and [illegible] of J. J. Pelley, [illegible] who said:

"We have pledged ourselves to provide more jobs commensurate with our increase in sales. To accomplish this, we are making it possible for the public to avail themselves of very special offers."

It is very reasonably priced and comes in serene thinning shades, black, navy, brown, grape wine, laurel green, teal and spice rust. Head sizes 22, 22½ and 23.
"EXCLUSIVE WITH WETHERN'S IN NEW ENGLAND"

"I BOUGHT it at Wethern's"—is the proud boast of many smart Boston women, when you admire their chapeaux . . .

And — "Wethern's scores in the Record-American"—is the proud announcement of this new "sales power" advertising medium.

Here's the story—

Wethern's sought extra business, new customers . . . the constant goal of all merchandisers. They studied their available market . . . noted that they were not selling the 494,878 families of the Record-American, 33.5% of Boston's daily newspaper readers.

Then—a test advertisement (August 17 American, August 18 Record); awareness of the fact that a first advertisement might not produce the results to be expected in a constantly cultivated market; modest space, yet big visibility on the Record-American easy-to-read page.

Result—300 hats sold as a direct result of the single insertion; many additional mail orders; new customers made; a new volume market discovered.

Have you made this discovery, Mr. Merchant?

WOMAN LEADER DIES

TORONTO, Sept. 7—Mrs. Mary Ella Williams Dignam, 82, active for years in national women's organizations, died today after an illness of eight months. She founded the Women's Art Association of Canada, oldest nationally organized women's club in the world.

"YOU'RE IN LOVE WITH THIS WOMAN, AREN'T YOU?"

Has a jealous wife the right to do what I did to hold my husband?

"I WAS blinded by jealousy. Perhaps you will say that is no excuse for what I did.

"A doctor's wife has to stand for a lot, and I had tried to play my part. But this was too much. This was more than any wife could bear.

"Then—that night—alone—I conceived my plan. A plan to hold my husband. A plan so strange, so fantastic that you will be shocked when you learn about it. But I loved him, do you understand?

"Please do not judge me too harshly when you read my story in October True Story Magazine. I have written it in shame and contrition. If I have been utterly frank, if I have stripped my soul bare, it is only in the hope that my story may help other women."

Perhaps never has True Story Magazine published a more unusual and moving story than this woman's tragic yet astonishing narrative of her amazing experience. No wife or sweetheart should fail to read "Living Dangerously" in the big, new October issue. Get a copy today—sure!

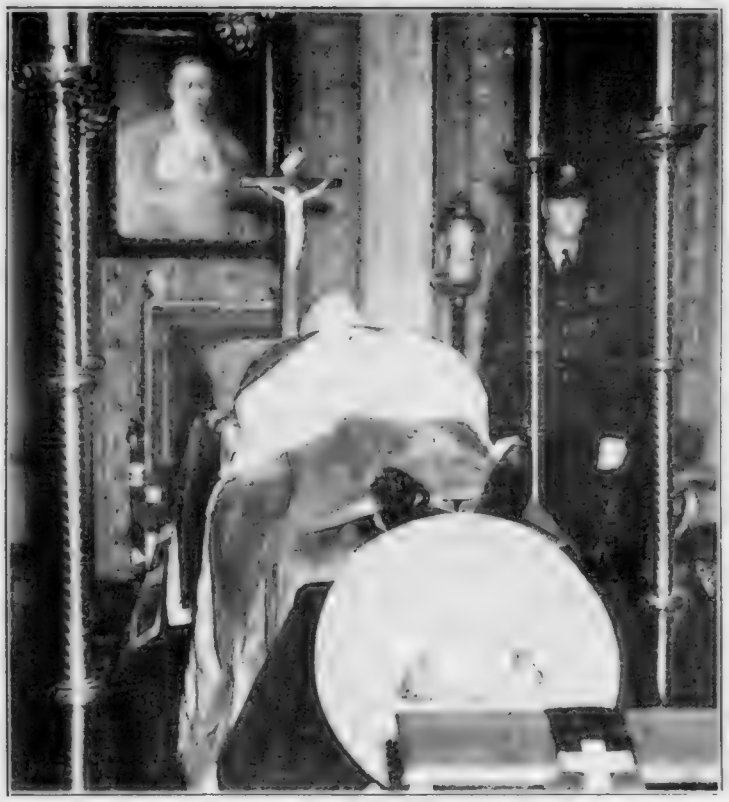
Faithful Mourn



Solemn hush of prayer fills St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York as congregations kneel in services by priest in pulpit, mourning death of Patrick Cardinal Hayes. Flickering light from tapers adds to the solemn beauty of the scene.

Tribute of thousands was paid to Patrick Cardinal Hayes as he lay in state in the cathedral in his archdiocese. Cardinal Nuns knelt in constant prayer while members of the New York police served as guards of honor.

Life was breathed into little Pearl Linden, 4, by Patrolman Anthony Flores of Coney Island when the child was choking to death from convulsions. Flores worked over the girl for 45 minutes.

North Shore Nuptials Set for Saturday

ONE of the outstanding bridal couples of this coming Saturday, Peggy Seyburn and her fiance, Edward M. McIlhaine, were photographed one morning recently as they set out for a dip in the ocean. Their wedding will take place at Manchester-by-the-Sea, where the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesson Seyburn, have a summer residence. Peggy's resemblance to Myrna Loy, which often causes people to confuse her for the movie actress is quite noticeable in this picture. Oddly enough, her debutante sister, Suzanne, is a dead ringer for Sylvia Sidney, another movie star.

Socialites Seek Awards at Fair

Outstanding among the hundred or more exhibitors in the three-day dog show at the Brockton Fair next week will be Governor Alvan T. Fuller. Mr. Fuller, a newcomer in the sport of showing dogs, will exhibit two Welsh Corgis from his kennel at Lattingtown, Long Island.

His strongest competition in the Corgi class will come from Mrs. Davisson Powell of Ashland, owner of the famous Wauseeka Kennels. She will exhibit four of these winsome little dogs, but will not enter any of her famous Newfoundlands as they are out of coat at this season.

The Horse Show, opening Monday, September 12, will be another highlight of the fair, with a brilliant entry of hunters and jumpers already assured. Mr. and Mrs. William J. Kennedy have made a total of 27 entries, with their ace, Erin's Son, figuring in seven classes.

Jamaica Plain Girl Plans Ceremony

September 17 has been chosen by Gertrude McCarron of Jamaica Plain as the date of her marriage to Edward John Matthews in the Church of St. Thomas Aquinas at eight o'clock.

Bake Your Best For Apple Pie Contest

FROM MARTHA LEE'S WEDNESDAY BROADCAST OVER WMEX—11:30 A. M.

Families throughout New England will be eating apple pie more or less constantly from now until October 3d, from all reports.

The New England Apple Pie Contest is a feature of the New England Apple Festival, October 1 to 8 at Worcester, Mass. We have been informed that the final contest of the six New England state apple pie champions will be held on October 3d in Mechanics Hall, Worcester.

Of course, you'll want to enter the contest. Residents of a certain, both sexes, 16 years of age or over (or younger, if married), are eligible with exception of professional pie makers such as pastry chefs.

The type of pie to be baked is what is commonly considered "regular apple pie"—a 2-crust pie made with tart juicy fruit, sprinkled by choice (dry) and with apple (sugar, cinnamon, butter, nutmeg) favored and sweetened to best judgment of maker.

The virtues of apple pie have been extolled by many famous men in all walks of life. We can add but little to what has already been said. We like our favoring to be subtle so that it enhances the flavor of the apples themselves instead of supplanting it with the flavor of spice.

It is to be hoped that every town throughout New England will be well represented in the pie-baking contests. The six champions will be awarded a trip to Worcester, as Apple Festival guests, and the opportunity to compete for cash prizes offered by the festival, $40 for first, $30 for second and $20 for third.

The general rules for amateur pie contests in general are as follows:

(1) Crust, pulpy at time and juice surrounded by crust, to be judged as well as taste of pie.

(2) Crust, when cut, to stay in place on plate.

(3) Contestant must be a resident of New England or visitor.

(4) There are two classes: (a) Apple Festival champion pie to get first prize.

Consult your favorite cookbook for your favorite recipe as the basis for the making of apple pie. When we think of a really good cook in New England and the wonderful pies we have to work with, we can't stop watching for a book to be written by them.

After all that we won't dare offer a recipe for apple pie but we will pass along one other good apple recipe.

APPLE SPONGE PUDDING

Pare and cut the apples into apples into a baking dish. Dot the butter. Over this sprinkle the brown sugar then the apples and cover with the batter. In making the batter we follow the cake procedure of flour before measuring, then sift again with baking powder. Let the egg whites stiff.

6 medium-sized juicy apples	4 tbsp. butter
	1 cup brown sugar

BATTER:

1 cup flour	1 cup sugar
1 tsp. baking powder	granulated
2 eggs, separated	½ cup water
	1 tsp. vanilla

Work the egg yolks with the water, then add sugar and lemon colored then add granulated sugar and continue beating until sugar is thoroughly mixed. Add the sifted flour added baking with the water, then add vanilla. Beat the egg whites until stiff and fold into the mixture. Pour this batter over the apples and bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) from 45 minutes to one hour.

SCALLOPED APPLES

Pare, serve with or without cream.

6 large tart apples	2 tbsp. honey
2 cups toasted bread crumbs	½ cup hot water
	cinnamon

Pare the apples and cut in quarters slices. Into a buttered baking dish put a layer of toasted bread crumbs, then a layer of sliced apples and a top layer of crumbs. Add the hot water to the honey and pour it over the pudding. Bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for an hour.

Knit a Sports Frock

THERE'S nothing like a smartly tailored knit shirtwaist affair to keep you trig under your tweed or fur coat. Always a revelation in trigness when you slip off the outer wrappings. This one is good for any daytime occasion, and still simple enough for golf. The lines of the yoke and vester are especially good for full figures, but nevertheless youthful. Notice how the "arrow" of the pattern is placed below the vestee to simulate the tab often used on shirt fronts. You may have knitting directions by writing to Annice Brink, Fashion Editor Boston Evening American, and inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Seizures Aid U.S. Oil Output

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER
International News Service Economic Commentator

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (INS)—The immediate business consequences of the seizure of foreign-owned oil properties earlier in the year by the Mexican government were expressed in terms of a decline of more than 50 per cent in shipments of petroleum out of that country.

This deficiency in world supplies has been largely made up by increased exports from the United States.

Queried concerning the effect of confiscation in Mexico on oil conditions and prospects in other Latin American countries a well versed spokesman for the American industry told me:

CAUSE FOR CONCERN

"The greatest cause for concern in the petroleum industry in the lack of a well defined government policy for the protection of American investments abroad.

"It is vital to our national defense and to our economic security that where U. S. business has established production or markets abroad in accordance with the laws of the countries involved, it cannot be left to the mercy of anti-capitalist leaders who seek political advantage by confiscating foreign investment to be divided among their camp followers."

In the domestic scene the principal problem is attuning production to demand. As one executive expressed it:

"Perhaps the most significant fact in the situation is the recognition by refiners of the need for their co-operation in helping balance the supply-demand picture."

REDUCE THEIR RUNS

"So far this year many operators have realized that gasoline stocks were too heavy, and reduced their runs. Also there has been a decrease in new drilling, another factor which ought to ease the pressure on the refiner."

Government statistics show the average price of manufactured products is now approximately 80 per cent of the 1926 average while the refinery price of gasoline is only 55 per cent of the 1926 average. At the present time the supply of petroleum products is far greater than the demand, and stocks are at the highest point in many years.

Despite the recent reduction in the price of crude, most refiners are losing money on the operation of their plants.

It is estimated that the total production of petroleum in the United States for the year will approximate two billion barrels.

FREER REAPPOINTED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (INS)—Robert L. Freer, ... has been reappointed a member of the Federal Trade Commission by President Roosevelt, it was learned today.

Haney Says Fears Hold Back Trade

By LEWIS HANEY
(Professor of Economics, New York University)
Special to Boston Evening American

EAST JAFFREY, N. H., Sept. 7—Despite the gyrations of the stock market, business has changed but little and would be at least insofar as statistics and factual data are concerned.

Indexes of activity rose again. The upturn continues to look like a cyclical affair modified by attempts at "social planning" and ill-fortuitous forces.

The outlook is still affected by the specific factors that New Deal governmental spending will increase and reach a peak next winter or spring.

The chief factors which affect business men and traders on the stock exchange, we [illegible] "[illegible] war [illegible] most recently involve us and [illegible] government" in this country.

This means the fear of the evil greedy and ill-informed people led by demagogues and sweet-talkers [illegible] the progress which such a wild notion as the "$30 every Thursday" scheme has made in California.

These fears now are declining according to the observations of abroad and of the boys trained to show business a little.

Perhaps the chief cause for confidence of late has been the fall in the pound sterling compared with the rise in the price of gold in the London market. This of course has led to a heavier movement of gold from London to New York.

Much of this is the result of the crisis threat of war. Such threats however are hardly new. What is new is the growing conviction that the major nations, at least in the end, [illegible]

Good News

NEW YORK, Sept. 7—Dividend declarations in August showed an increase over July, according to figures compiled by the Administrative and Research Corporation. Dividends declared by 765 companies in August totalled $244,600,000 compared with $180,000,000 declared by 837 companies in July.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7—National Manufacturers Association reported production and shipments in six August 27 week were about the same as the preceding week when production was the highest of the year to date.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 7—Reflecting a sharp upturn in industrial activity, employment index of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce gained four points in August, rising to 74 from 70 in July. It was at 99.7 a year ago.

Covering all major industries except steel production, the upturn was the first of any magnitude since last September and according to present indications will be followed by a further gain this month.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7—About 1200 workers of West Albany shops of New York Central, closed since last spring, have been ordered to return to work Wednesday.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7—Worth Street reports numerous bids in the market, but mills are not accepting the business because prices are under mill list and most mills have adopted a stronger attitude in regard to acceptance of business under the market.

CHICAGO, Sept. 2—Furniture manufacturers in the final half of August received more orders than in any preceding two-week period in 1938. There are definite signs at present of continued improvement during the remainder of the second half, which normally accounts for 60 per cent of the year's total business.

Boston After Dark

BY GEORGE HOLLAND

NEW YORK, Sept. 7

Memo to Managing Editor:

So this is New York . . . or did you know that I was here? . . . It was an arduous trip . . . Your friend Jack White took one look at your roamer of the rialtos and exclaimed: "Could I interest you in a quart of blood!"

GEORGE HOLLAND

That was discouraging . . . But Jack leans toward the grim in his humor . . . Only for that element in his comedy-sense, you would have seen and heard Mr. White and his co-workers, Pat Harrington and Frank Hyers, in the Olsen and Johnson show, "Hellzapoppin," which opens at the Winter . . . Both Olsen and Johnson pleaded with him to join their show . . . White was willing but he insisted that a new song written by himself and Messrs. Cunningham and Hyers be interpolated in the score . . .

The song is [illegible] one of the best numbers and lyrics this I Worship the Girl That's Coming to You" . . . The song is in Hellzapoppin . . . Mr. White . . . [illegible] . . . N. B. Stromberg . . . [illegible] . . .

Ethel Barrymore Play Booked for Plymouth

"Whiteoaks," the Mazo de la Roche play of rural Canada, will bring Ethel Barrymore to the Plymouth theater for a limited engagement a week from Monday night.

The new Barrymore bit had its American premiere in Montreal, where Miss Barrymore had occasion to recall her first visit to that city at the age of 18. She had left the Convent of Notre Dame near Paris [illegible] to undertake her first role [illegible] "The Rivals."

Going on the stage was contrary to the girl's wishes all of which centered on the study of music at Leipzig. She was merely being obedient to her grandmother, Louisa Lane Drew. The grandmother cited the family record of nearly a century in the American theater to impress the child.

Since that early Montreal engagement Miss Barrymore has gone on to become one of the distinguished actresses of our time.

Robinson Film Due at Uptown

"The Amazing Dr. Clitterhouse," starring Edward G. Robinson, will be the feature attraction on the stage and screen at the Uptown theater starting Friday.

Margaret Lindsay, Gale Page and Allen Jenkins are also in the cast of the film, which is a screen adaptation of Kit Parker's Saturday Evening Post story. Both of these pictures are Warner Brothers releases.

Austen Lake:

Boston Awards Cronin Order of 'Grand Guy'

THIS IS JUST SEPTEMBER 7 to most pople, another routine rotation of the earth on its axis; but it's Valentine's Day for Joe Cronin—the day when Boston gives the Red Sox dean a personal hug and a mash note trimmed with paper-lace and hearts entwined. For Joe, as a gent, has wormed his way into local affections more than any pennantless manager in Hub history, even though, as manager, his methods have sometimes seemed a bit on the boarding school side.

Austen Lake

Make no mistake, Joe has suffered at his six-year task—not out loud in public, but in the secret cellars of his soul. The perennial boyish look which he brought to Boston in '34, has faded to a lean, semi-grimness from long and futile peering into foggy futures. He has broken his bones, been ill with worry, handled some of the most cantankerous characters in the game, watched his plans tumble like spilled breakfast food, been scorched by the critics. And still he has remained, as nature made him, one of the most forebearing, patient guys in baseball.

Are you listenin', Mr. Terry?

In times such as today's, it is customary to toss a few tactful bouquets at the guest of honor.

Well, in Cronin's case, it's not hard to find the blossoms wherewith to make the bouquets. For if you don't like Cronin's type, then you don't like apple pie like Gram-ma made it, or the smell of autumn woodsmoke, or little children, or the shimmer of sun on the open sea. There's a little of all those elements in Joe—good taste, wistfulness, simplicity and candor.

Yes, it's easy to fire orchids at Cronin.

He Heaped Coals of Fire

THIS IS THE KIND OF MAN HE IS: A couple of years ago two Washington newsmen, noted as grandstand managers and home town apologists, meandered down to the Red Sox locker room at Griffith Stadium. They wanted a column of quotations. But Joe had just dropped a couple of close games and felt hot, angry, thwarted and unsocial. So he sent his clubhouse man to beg off from immediate interviews until he showered and reassembled himself.

Maybe the clubhouse man conveyed the message without proper polish. Th' boss sez No! he ain't seeing visitors. Anyhow, the scribes went away wrathfully and wrote twin gems of pure vituperation, biffing Joe with every typographical slug known to journalistic mayhem.

A year ago one of these writers found himself among what Mr. Roosevelt calls the "unprivileged third." He had no job, next to nothing in his pocket and the wolf in his vestibule. So, needing some quick scratch with which to buy victuals for his family, he turned to . . . who sure, Joe Cronin. Would Joe collaborate in a magazine article on the fine art of keeping [illegible] happy?

He would and did, returning here to [illegible] to the piece but by [illegible] long hours of [illegible] during [illegible] nights to the [illegible] chair. And though the [illegible] on such [illegible] is 50% Cronin refused to accept half of it, donating his share to the [illegible] writer.

Are you still sore at Mr. Terry?

Ode to Error

IF THIS COLUMN HAS SOMETIMES skewered Joe for his unwillingness to light a burner under his former flauntleroys and incite them to sincerity, I aimed at the manager and not at the man. Sometimes my comment was corrosive. But always afterward Joe's attitude has remained urbane, his chat just as ready and informative, his manner untouched by malice. So, those very qualities of patience and forbearance for which I slurred him came to be the ones which, inconsistently, I admired most.

Cronin made easy liking from the 1932 day when he first came to Boston after supplanting the popular Walter Johnson as manager of the Senators. And the story of that appointment is also epic and characteristic of Cronin: how he had delayed accepting the post until he telephoned Johnson for permission to take the job which had been Walter's job. And that is tops in scruples, considering that Joe was all a twitch to snatch opportunity by the forelock.

Since then much has occurred which would color the painting of a picture of Cronin now. His Red Sox teams, which soared up to pennants on paper, floored on the field. The [illegible] athletes who came [illegible] turned out [illegible] for Christmas presents.

The double duty of playing a key infield position and directing 23 to 40 human cussers [illegible] (") between his eyes. His task was the same one which drove Ed Carrigan back to his prize poultry, had made Heinie Wagner screech in his sleep and caused Shano Collins to jump over the tailboard before he safely cracked.

Unnatural Beneficence

WELL, JOE HASN'T SNATCHED OUT his hair by handfuls or banged out his brains against the clubhouse plumbing. Neither did he scourge his hired hands with tongue lashings or levy on their pay. In fact, it was his unnatural beneficence which, I had thought, formed the root for earlier Red Sox failure. And in times past I have made a double indictment against Joe for being too much of a good fellow and against his crew for bogging down in their congenial surroundings. Because, I had thought—and now I repeat that phrase self consciously, that Joe was dealing with men mellowed by previous suc-

Fans Celebrate 'Joe Cronin Day'

By WALTER KILEY

Manager Joe Cronin, squared-jawed pilot of the Boston Red Sox, is to be toasted, feted and honored during a double "Cronin Day" celebration today.

Even the usual stirring appearance of the Yankees, admitted pennant winners, pales by comparison with the fact that the Sox' pilot has finally for the first time in his long and brilliant career in the majors, been signalled out for the warm commendation of New England fandom.

When the New Yorkers are forced to play second fiddle, that's something most extraordinary. For the Yankees are [illegible] front in the title race than none can [illegible] been termed by no lesser authorities than [illegible] Street as the "greatest team in all [illegible]

Part of the dual festivities will take place during the game with the Yankees, opener of two single games in as many days at Fenway Park.

A [illegible] of 200 sincere friends and admirers of the increasingly popular Irishman will hold forth in back of the Red Sox dugout and between times will present him a sterling silver service set, the cost of which was received through the purchase of tickets by these loyal fans at $10 per copy, and a movie camera as an added gift.

Tonight a banquet is being tossed in his honor at Hotel Lenox with the same hosts in attendance headed by genial Joseph F. Timilty, police commissioner, and Thomas Green, civil service commissioner, the two men mostly responsible for the well deserved testimonial parties.

DEVER TOASTMASTER

Attorney-General Paul Dever will [illegible] at the evening's festivities in the role of toastmaster. With [illegible] that Manager Joe will be on the receiving end of a rapid fire [illegible] such as never before [illegible] Dever has [illegible] to be [illegible] [illegible] New England guests.

The [illegible] of Cronin admirers were [illegible] Ft. Wm. Park the [illegible] event would [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] players and characters in the game. Cronin, who broke [illegible] the Mackmen in 1925 was named the [illegible] shortstop of the American League [illegible] seasons. Only recently the [illegible] fans made him shortstop on the All American popularity team, his vote so far greater than the runner-up that [illegible] was virtually a [illegible] vote of confidence in him.

Despite the [illegible] and headaches which have been his lot in his dual capacity, Cronin has carried on with an enthusiasm and rare ability both at bat and at his shortstop position so that today he is perhaps the biggest factor in the biggest factor in the successes the Yawkeymen have enjoyed this season.

It was only fitting that on the eve of the gala occasion, Owner Tom Yawkey should reaffirm his faith in Cronin's ability and assure the Boston public that Joe Cronin will be back as manager next year.

In the meanwhile, the Sox are [illegible] training the Yanks by 14 full games [illegible]

Lou Brouillard Is Back in Action

22 Players on Shamrocks' Roll

By JACK CONWAY

LOU BROUILLARD, former world's welterweight and middleweight champion, was punching away at the large bag when I stepped into Buckley's Gym on Friend street. Johnny Buckley and Jack Sharkey were watching Brouillard work out.

Mr. Boston

"Brouillard will be ready to box inside of three weeks," said Buckley. "Lou's injured ankle is all right once more, and I believe he can defeat any middleweight in the East.

"If Joe Glasgow of Quincy is sincere in his desire to battle Brouillard for the New England middleweight championship, he can have the bout. Brouillard punches too hard and too often for Glasgow."

Sharkey expressed surprise at Brouillard's fine [illegible] condition.

"I thought Lou would weigh 175 pounds following his layoff," said Sharkey. "Instead he only scaled 165 pounds before he began training today. Lou tells me he has been doing light work at his farm outside of Worcester for several weeks."

Following his session of bag punching, Brouillard skipped rope, and did some shadow boxing.

"I shall be ready to meet any of the middleweights after two weeks of actual boxing," Brouillard told me. "I am anxious to get two or three first class sparring partners at whom I shall be able to toss punches. In that way I shall be able to improve my timing. As you know, timing is more important in boxing than it is even in golf. If your timing is off in golf, you may miss the little white agate, but nobody then punches you on the chin."

Rockingham Ready for Opening

AS FAR AS horses are concerned, Rockingham Park is already set for its opening on next Monday. There were 400 [illegible] at the Salem, N. H. race course this morning with every [illegible] hanging and [illegible] horses. By the end of the week there will be more than 1000 [illegible] and [illegible] at Rockingham.

Rockingham Park is looking forward to a successful meeting. Its Summer meeting furnished some of the best racing ever witnessed in New England. The track got a bad break in the fact it rained for one entire week during the three weeks' meeting. Despite this weather handicap, the racing and mutuel handle were pleasing to Smith.

[illegible]

[illegible]

Lou Smith has been given unlimited authority in conducting the operations of the track. Smith knows racing and the local conditions in New Hampshire, and is sure to have the track in full co-operation with the state.

22 Players on Shamrocks' Squad

THERE WERE 22 players on the squad that reported to Coach George Kenneally of the Shamrocks. Kenneally had his players check in at the Copley Square Hotel where he insisted they inhale a few groceries before they even discussed football.

The first drill was held at the hotel, and it was a discussion of new football rules and the fundamentals of the game. I might be able to win a place on the Shamrocks if they held future drills in the dining room with an occasional trip to the cocktail lounge.

The Shamrocks will open their season with a game with the All-Stars at Fenway Park on September 14 under floodlights.

Included in the list of veterans who will be back with the Shamrocks are Captain and Assistant Coach Joe Zapustas, Tackle Joe Kresky, Guard Ernie Concannon, Halfback Marvin Ellstrom and Fullback Frank Mittrick.

Kresky, All-America tackle at Wisconsin, played with the Shamrocks in Cincinnati and in California last fall, but has yet to make his first Boston appearance.

Newcomers reporting to the Shamrocks include George Mullaney of Catholic University, George Stonis of Slippery Rock and Steve Gilbert of St. Bonaventure, ends; Tony Rizzo of the University of Pittsburgh, Harold Holcomb of the University of Texas and Milton Johnson of New Hampshire, tackles; Mike Skules of Washington and Jefferson, Stanley Farroh of Iowa, George Musulin of Pittsburgh and Lou Wisniewski of Canisius, guards; Hank Bogacki of Canisius, center; Charles Szczak of Carnegie Tech, Steve Saulis of Geneva, Gus Rock of Northeastern and William Anderson of Indiana, halfbacks.

Random Shots at Target

JOE CRONIN DAY at Fenway Park this afternoon was certain success . . . It is seldom that a ball player has attained as great popularity with the public as that gained by Cronin . . . Joe has had a great season himself at the bat and in the field and also has been able to rally his club when it has faltered.

I know that Charles F. Connors, chairman of the Massachusetts Racing Commission, was at today's game . . . Charley was one of Cronin's chief boosters even when Joe was having his troubles in the field a few years ago, and has been delighted at the way the Sox leader has come through with brilliant playing . . . Incidentally the boss of the Racing Commission is one of the town's No. 1 baseball fans, and used to pass away some of his time scouting for the Red Sox some years back . . . Charley once owned the Syracuse club.

IT has been a long time since you've been able to buy a new Fall hat of Dobbs Quality and Dobbs Style as low as $5.

And it has been a longer time since hat styles have changed as much as they have for this Fall.

Crowns are more slender. Brims are straighter. Bands are definitely narrower.

Indeed, the styles for Fall 1938 are so different—so smarter and more becoming—that your last year's hat looks "dated."

Blaik Drills With 48 Picked Men

Hutchinson, M'Leod at Hanover

HANOVER, N. H., Sept. 7 (AP)—With Coach Earl Blaik and Capt. Bob McLeod, rated as one of New England's finest halfbacks, in command, Dartmouth today began preparing for its 1938 football campaign, approximately 48 men reporting for the first practice session.

Colby Howe, outstanding fullback on the 1937 eleven, Bill "Bombshell" Hutchinson, halfback, and Gus Zitrides, the big guard mentioned for All-America honors last year, were among the men reporting.

Practically all, particularly those who worked at boys' camps and on road gangs during the summer, appeared in excellent condition.

Varsity men present today included:

Captain Bob MacLeod, Colby Towe, Bill Hutchinson, Whit Minot, Lacey Draper, Joe Feeley, Bob Gibson, Gus Zitrides, Jim Parks, Lou Highmark, Jim Weaver, George Bommers, Ben Rosen, Jack Gutcher, Bob Hatch, Dick Jackson, Tom Young, Joe Armanini, John Kane, Otis Madge, Bob Lemples, Ed Phelan, Harry Nowell, Henry Ingersoll, Ernest Bly, Werner Neuendorf, Phil Dostal, Monty Winship, Stuart Sloy, Ed Wilkerin, John Kaiser, Bob Krueger, Joe Collone, Mike Gross, Jim Bauman, Howie Napper, Danny Coulter, Donald Norton, Bud Hayden, Henry White, John Evans, Jack Orr, Ray Hall, Harold Webster and Gordon McCoun.

Big Shakeup For Pirates

CINCINNATI, Sept. 7 (AP)—Manager Pie Traynor announced last night he was shifting the batting order of his sliding Pittsburgh Pirates for today's important game with the challenging Cincinnati Reds.

The Pirates have lost four of their last five games. They have been shut out twice while scoring but eight runs in their last four contests. Their leadership in the National League pennant race meanwhile dwindled from seven to four and one-half games.

Traynor said he planned to send his ace right-hander, Bobby Klinger, to the mound to face Paul Derringer, the Reds' best harler.

Lloyd Waner will replace "Jeep" Handley as leadoff batter, to be followed in order by Brother Paul Waner, Johnny Rizzo, Vaughan, Suhr, Young, then Handley and Todd.

Giants Choice Over All-Stars

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (INS)—The Polo Grounds will be the scene of the initial pigskin maneuvers of the season here tonight as the New York professional Giants attempt to put a fat third strike over on the Eastern College All-Stars.

Proud conquerors for the past two years, Headmaster Stephen Owen's Gold Rush Gang is expected to show little charity to Merry Andrew Kerr's lads despite the fact that charity will benefit from the coinage outlay by a full house of more than 50,000 paytrons.

Citizens with money to earn (or turn) have installed the Giants 7 to 5 favorites.

High school student managers and faculty managers are requested to send in their 1938 football schedules just as soon as possible to the Sports Department of the Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop square, Boston.

These schedules will be used to advertise the high school games during the nearing campaign.

Riggs Unlikely To Stop Budge

CHICAGO, Sept. 7 (INS)—Don Budge, the sorrel-topped Californian, is on the last lap of his grand slam. One more triumph in the national singles tennis championships at Forest Hills and he will have realized a life-time ambition, set a record for all future tennis greats to shoot at and have no more worlds to conquer.

Budge, who for two years has won and retained the historic old Davis Cup, emblematic of the world tennis championship, may be facing his greatest test.

However, judging from past performances, particularly in the recently completed contest with Australia, one is lead to the belief that Budge will have to be off form to be conquered on the courts by any opposition Uncle Sam has to offer.

Obviously Bobbie Riggs of Chicago is the only one who seems to have any chance to upset the red head.

While the match was not important because the Davis Cup had already been clinched, Riggs was defeated by young Jack Bromwich, three sets out of four, one of which was a love affair.

Budge did not have any trouble with Bromwich, so there is no reason to suspect he will fall before the freshman of Uncle Sam's cup team.

Budge has placed his name in the Hall of Fame along with those of Bill Tilden, Ellsworth Vines, Vincent Richards, Little Bill Johnston and Maurice McLaughlin.

If he wins the singles again, he will make the grand slam of capturing four titles in a single season—United States, Australia, English and French. There are no others to win. That will place him at the top without argument.

Now you will hear many reports that Budge will turn professional. Promoters are flooding him with offers. The most substantial one is said to place $100,000 on the line. That is a lot of money for a youngster who has come up the hard way, a son of poor hard-working parents.

When Budge was in Chicago last winter he said to me: "Why shouldn't I turn professional and accept $100,000? That is more money than I might accumulate in a lifetime working or at any other business. It seems rather foolish to let such an opportunity pass by."

HAGEN REFUTES STORY---NOT BROKE

By BILL GRIMES

NEW YORK, Sept. 7—It still isn't safe to get within swinging distance of Casey Stengel, for he might mistake you for Lanning, Shaffner or Reis.

Wes Ferrell recently underwent an operation, during which a piece of bone was removed from his elbow . . . Early this morning, Freddie Corcoran received a check for $13,500 from George Murphy, sponsor of the Westchester 108-hole championship.

Jimmy Hitchcock hit two in the pinch yesterday, scoring the first two Bees' runs. But for the fact that Johnny Lanning unearthed home run service for Alex Kampouris and Jo Jo More, the former Auburn All-America half back would have been the big hero.

Joe Stevens, Jr., who managed the Yale varsity football team last fall, returned from a tour of Europe on Tuesday.

During Bill Terry's recent absence, the Giants won two games in a row for the first time since August 14.

GENE SARAZEN

Ben Hogan, who won the Hershey invitation with Vic Ghezzi, now has a big Mid-Western club negotiating for his services . . . Walter Hagen refutes Gene Sarazen's story that he is broke . . . Stan Woodward's All-Star-New York Giant football game will play to a capacity crowd tonight at the Polo Grounds.

Bobby Jones has stated that Sam Snead is the only golfer that he'd swap games with. Incidentally since entering the big time pro ranks in 1937, Sam Sneng has banked $30,000 . . .

George Myatt, the Giant rookie, who at one time was practically the property of the Red Sox, failed to hit safe yesterday for the first time in 10 games.

Just heard that Nancy Corcoran, the two-year-o' daughter of John Corcoran, the state handicapper, suffered a broken leg when hit by an automobile.

She's at the St. Margaret's Hospita in Dorchester.

Between innings, George Kelly walks from the first base coaching box to home plate. Then, he throws the infield practice ball to Joe Stripp.

Martin Out To Win N. E. Ring Title

George Martin of Castle square is confident that he'll win his first professional boxing championship Friday night at the Boston Garden when he steps into the toughest fight they've handed this spectacular young man from the South End who'll battle Louis "Cocoa Kid" Hardwick for the N. E. welterweight championship in the 15-round feature of the Goodwin A. C. show.

George Martin

"From what I've seen of the Cocoa Kid and from what I read in the papers this looks like the biggest hurdle they've handed me," said Martin today as he finished work in a local gym, looking like a million and in top condition for this bout.

"But I like the distance and I don't think the Cocoa Kid is going to land any of those k. o. punches they're writing about. I'll be coming strong at the finish and there's always the chance that I might hit the Cocoa Kid hard enough to stop him. I've been known to do this.

"I know he knocked out Andy Callahan and this is pretty fair testimony that he can hit. But the Cocoa Kid is going to have a different target to shoot at this time."

If nothing else, Martin has plenty of confidence, just the right kind of confidence, at that. He's giving away a lot in experience to the Cocoa Kid but Martin has handled himself in such fine style against Callahan and Ralph Zannelli that his pilot, Dan Carroll, doesn't think Martin will find the Cocoa Kid too much for him.

It will be Boston's first 15-round fight since the Callahan-Dundee battle for the world welterweight crown at the Garden.

Other bouts Friday night will be Young Byron vs. Sergeant Sammy Baker, 6 rounds; Salvatore Bartolo vs Sammy Garcia, 6 rounds; Jackie Lupo vs. Bob Hagen (Tony Vento), 4 rounds; George Salamone vs. Bobby Martinez, 4 rounds; Jerry Zullo vs. Tony Morillo, 4 rounds.

Mize Again May Land 2d Honors

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 7 (AP)—The late season booming of Johnny Mize's big bat again may give him runnerup batting honors in the National League.

Last year the husky Cardinal first baseman was second only to his teammate, Joe Medwick, with an average of .364.

Johnny Mize

And at the clip he was going, many believed he would have been the batting champion if the season had continued another week or two.

That's why great things were expected of Mize this year, and that's why Cardinal fans were disappointed as the 1938 season neared its halfway mark and found Johnny about all washed up—they thought.

Hitting a weak .264, he was benched late in June in favor of Don Padgett, who was converted from an outfielder.

But that bench warming apparently did the trick. Since returning to the game two months ago, Johnny has been slugging the ball at a .372 gait.

Now with a season's average of .322, Mize trails only Ernie Lombardi of Cincinnati, Arky Vaughan of Pittsburgh, Medwick, and Frank McCormick of the Reds.

He is third in home runs with 23, being paced only by Mel Ott of the Giants and Ival Goodman of the Reds, and is second to teammate Don Gutteridge in triples with 14.

To regain runnerup honors, Mize only needs to add 5 percentage points to his average. And to one who has added 58 points to his mark in the last two months, it doesn't appear at all impassible. And some even believe Lombardi's 30-point margin may not be safe.

Midget Racers

Bunched at Medford

At the weekly Friday night midget auto racing at Medford's Riverside Park oval which is fastly coming to a close, it can boast of the only dead heat in the history of New England midget auto racing.

The drivers of the speedy little "doodle bugs" have got each othe's number and the resultant racing events have become of a spectacular nature. Emil Boucher and Louis Velotti are the present outstanding daredevil drivers in that they are the most evenly matched contestants seen in these parts for many years. Close behind are Dick Sawin, last Friday's feature winner; Ray Lovely, of Lawrence, and Ollie Miner, present midget champion.

Harvard Grid Outlook Fair

By WALTER KILEY

An invigorating summer with the birds' eggs and plant life of his Pocono mountain retreat behind him, Harvard's Dick Harlow reports back, sun tanned and bursting with health, for three months of intensive football work, ready and eager to tackle his formidable Crimson problems.

Starting his fourth y ar as head coach of the Cambridge varsity, thi most popular member of Harvard's official family must unearth almost an entire new line and must plug up several gaping backfield holes.

Despite the fact that Richard C. is running smack up against the stiffest schedule which has confronted a Stadium team in years, he expresses far more interest in his own team than he does his rivals.

"If we're playing all right, we'll win our share of games," he tells. "If we're not up to snuff, the other fellows will win."

Outside this bare statement, Harlow was not making any positive statements.

But it is evident that with his knowledge of players and their abilities, with a three-year coaching background at Harvard, and with the fact in mind that Harvard won the "Big Three" championship with victories over Yale and Princeton a year ago, that the future has several bright spots entirely lacking as he began grooming in bygone years.

One outstanding ffact impresses the Harvard coach this season, the wide spread trend towards "shifting defenses."

Coaches everywhere are talking about the subject and intend mass employing of this shifting business with the result, he says, we're going to see a lot of colorless first quarters, with each team sizing up their rivals in the early stages, the really smart quarterbacks then opening up and employing the knowledge gained in the second and later periods.

"Recently we took time out," he relates, "to add up the aggregate scores of 22 of the most prominent teams of 1933, the year where most coaches were lateral-pass conscious, and we discovered an average of 13 points per game.

"We did the same to 22 teams of last year, when the shifting defenses was making real headway. The average this time was 22 points per game, showing that the offense continues to develop despite new defensive moves. And will more and more continue to move ahead.

"The only trouble with this shifting defense, which will be a thing of the past five years from now, is that we're apt to neglect some of our sound tactics, trying to teach four defenses instead of the one."

The Crimson coach is enthusiastic over the two new rules changes, first of which brings t' ball in 15 yards from the sidelines and the second which permits two incompleted passes over the goal line. He feels that the first will open play up and the second will keep the secondary defense back the more.

Harlow admits to three immediate and most serious Harvard problems. First and chief of them is his line to be constructed around Tackle Ken Booth whom he expects will develop into an outstanding tackle; second, filling the shoes of Fullback Vernon Struck, one of the greatest backing backs in Harvard history; third, finding capable reserve ends to bolster a really fine wing, Bobby Green and a greatly improving Bob Daughters.

St. Anselm's Opens Practice Today

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 7—Approximately 30 candidates are expected to be on hand today as Coach Celo A. O'Donnell starts another St. Anselm's football season.

In anticipation of the first game of the season on October 2 with Providence College, Coach O'Donnell will order double practice sessions daily until classes start on September 22.

Debater Makes B. C. Grid Grade

Georgie Kerr, a reserve Boston College guard, is one of those rare combinations of student and athlete.

Kerr graduated from St. Mary's High School of Brookline, Mass., in the class of '37. At St. Mary's he played guard on his football team for three years, twice gaining an All-Catholic League starting post. In high school he was an outstanding member of his class in every scholastic department.

Upon matriculation at Chestnut Hill the Brookline plugger went out for the grid team the first day of practice. For the initial weeks he was lost in the shuffle of star talent, but finally atracted the attentions of Ted Dailey, Frosh mentor.

At the conclusion of the year the Parochial high schooler who had broken in where more experienced public school graduates had failed was judged one of the best prospects due to come up for varsity work the following year.

While working at football, Kerr was doing anything but letting his subjects ride by on the "just passing boat, and at the conclusion of the first quarter, his initial one in college, George Kerr was on the coveted Dean's list.

After the grid season he continued to star in scholastic work with the same success he had enjoyed the first quarter in both classroom and on the field of sport. He tried out for the debating team, and easily made the grade. As a first year man, he was judged one of the leading spielers in the school.

Now this year after a slow start in practice he's breathing right down the necks of both Leo Reardon and Ernie Schworter in his fight for first team recognition.

Eleven Vets Report to Dunn

Although only 23 Northeastern candidates answered Coach Jimmy Dunn's opening grid call at Huntington Field, eleven of these are returning lettermen who expect to be the nucleus of this year's eleven.

Before the week comes to a close, the number of candidates is expected to reach 45.

Capt. Jim Connolly was among the group who reported, but, due to outside work, he will be missing morning workouts for the remainder of the week, but will be on hand in the afternoon.

Returning backfield men who are expected to team with Connolly are Alex Struzziero of East Boston, Bill Little, Malden, Foxy Flumere, Natick, and Bob Gurney of Medford.

Leading linemen were Arnold Kaufman, chunky guard, Gerry DeNapoli, Connie Sullivan, Art Anderson, Andy Bierenbroodspot

Pat Hanley Shifts B. U. Squad in Experiment

By MURRAY KRAMER

Pat Hanley will utilize every bit of material he has at Boston University this fall, if it means shaking up his entire club.

Pat Hanley

Faced with a lack of veteran strength, Pat intends to get every experienced man possible on his starting club and from his shifting on the opening day of practice, many of his aces may be in new positions when the opening gong sounds.

Captain Johnny Walker, regular center for the past two years, may take over the running guard post, and Rollie Bernard, a former center who was on the end squad last year, will be moved back to the pivot job.

Ray Needham, reserve center last ye , will be given a shot at the blocking quarterback post, and Jackie Rotman may be moved from halfback to end.

Still other changes involve George Radcliffe and Ralph Salvati. Radcliffe, who has been a reserve fullback for the past two years, looms as the starting right halfback, and Ralph Salvati, freshman guard last fall, is looked upon favorably as a fullback prospect.

None of these shifts are definite, but Coach Hanley will continue his experimenting for the next two weeks until he hits upon the strongest possible combination.

Dick Hanley, Pat's famed brother, was guest coach yesterday but he leaves for the Mid-West today . . . There were 39 candidates for the opening drill, not bad at all . . . Several of the missing lettermen are due in camp today.

Hanover the Great Dies at Fair Meet

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 7 (INS)—Death cut short the career of Hanover the Great, racing thoroughbred, in the first heat of the Governor's Stake trotting race at Indiana Fair Grounds here.

Driver Sep Palin pulled the horse up after lagging a quarter of a mile behind the field, and Hanover collapsed.

E. J. Baker of St. Charles, Ill., paid $6000 for the horse, which was undefeated last year on half-mile tracks.
